CLASSROOM VISITORS

Parents and grandparents were invited into the KE and K/1D classrooms on Monday to assist in a special lesson. The students had been learning about their past and how things have changed over time. The visitors helped to make timelines for Kindergarten. They shared stories about the things they liked to do when they were young. The children were then able to make comparisons with their own lives. The class was interested in how many things had changes (and how many things had stayed the same).
